ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA
OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON (AMENDMENT) ACT, 2013
No. 13 of 2013

AN ACT to amend the Offences Against the Person Act, Cap. 300.

ENACTED by the Parliament of Antigua and Barbuda as follows:

1. Short title

This Act may be cited as the Offences Against the Person (Amendment) Act, 2013.

2. Interpretation

In this Act —

“the principal Act” means the Offences Against the Person Act, Cap. 300.

3. Amendment of Section 2-Murder

Section 2 of the principal Act is repealed and the following substituted —

“2. Whosoever is convicted of murder shall be sentenced to death or to imprisonment for life or for such lesser term as the court considers appropriate.”

4. Amendment of section 3-Sentence for murder

Section 3 of the principal Act is repealed and substituted by the following:

“(1) Where upon a conviction for murder, the court exercises its power under section 2 and sentences the person to death, the court shall pronounce the sentence of death, which shall be carried into execution.

(2) All other proceedings in relation to and in respect of the sentence of death shall take place before the court and the court shall have and exercise the same powers in all respects after a conviction for any other felony for which the person may be sentenced to death as a felon.

(3) Notwithstanding subsection (1) of section 3, the sentence of death shall not be pronounced or recorded against a person convicted of an offence if it appears to the court that at the time when the offence was committed, the person convicted was under the age of eighteen years.

(4) Where a person under the age of eighteen years is convicted of murder, the court shall sentence him to be detained during the Court’s pleasure, and under such conditions (including periodic reviews by a court of competent jurisdiction) as the court may direct to meet the requirements of retribution, deterrence and rehabilitation and upon such terms as to periodic review of his detention as the court deems appropriate.

(5) A person who is sentenced to be detained under subsection (4) shall be confined in a safe place within Her Majesty’s Prison and while so detained he shall be deemed to be in legal custody.

(6) Where a court pronounces a sentence of death pursuant to subsection (1), the Court shall direct the time, place and manner of the execution of the sentence of death of the person convicted of murder.

(7) After the execution of sentence of death in the manner directed by the Court, and the person has been pronounced dead by a medical officer appointed by the Court, the Provost Marshall shall handover the remains of the person executed to his family for burial or if no family members come forward to claim the remains, the body shall be buried at the place directed by the Court.”

5. Insertion of section 3A

The principal Act is amended by inserting after section 3 the following—

“3A. Proceedings for sentencing

(1) A court shall, as soon as practicable after a person has been found guilty of an offence under Part I or Part II of this Act, conduct proceedings to determine the appropriate sentence to be imposed.

(2) Where an accused pleads guilty to or is found guilty of an offence, a probation officer or a
