UNITED STATES BASES TERRITORIAL SEA (NAVIGATION RESTRICTION)

(5th March, 1946.)

2/1946.
18/1989.

1. This Act may be cited as the United States Bases Territorial Sea (Navigation Restriction) Act. Short title.

2. In this Act, the expression "the public" means persons, other than persons arriving, residing or employed at or upon the Bases hereinafter mentioned and persons to whom any regulations made under this Act may be made inapplicable. Interpretation.

3. (1) The Cabinet may make regulations to restrict access by the public to Prickly Pear Island and to the territorial sea adjacent to or in the vicinity of the Bases in the Island of Antigua leased to the United States of America and to prohibit the placing of obstructions in shipping channels and alighting areas for aircraft in the said sea. Power to Cabinet to make regulations.

(2) Regulations made under this section shall be published in the Gazette and shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act, and notwithstanding the existence of any public rights.

(3) There may be annexed to the breach of any regulation made under this section a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars recoverable on summary conviction.

(4) Regulations made under this section shall be laid before Parliament and if a resolution is passed by Parliament that the regulations or any of them shall be annulled, the same shall thenceforth be void, but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder or to the making of any new regulations or regulation.
