LAW REVISION AND LAW REFORM BILL, 2018

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

SUMMARY

The Purpose of this Bill is to repeal and replace the Law Revision Act to modernize the system of revising, consolidating and editing the Laws. This is necessary to make the system compatible with the technological environment in which the Laws are now being produced and managed. The changes will also increase flexibility and bring improvements in relation to the speed and efficiency of the system. The Bill would also facilitate the publication of the Laws on the Internet or in an electronic format such as a CD.

In addition, the Bill makes provision for the establishment of an official Law Reform Commission. Such a Commission would make it possible for the Laws to be reviewed and reformed on a systematic basis for the first time. The Commission will be required to prepare a law reform programme on an annual basis and provide law reform reports of their research findings and recommendations for submission to Parliament and for the use of the public.

PART I PRELIMINARY

- Clause 1: This clause provides for the short title.
- Clause 2: This clause provides definitions for the terms used in the Bill.

PART II LAW REVISION COMMISSIONER

- Clause 3: The provisions of this clause will bring major administrative improvements to the system by providing for the appointment of a public officer who is an experienced legislative drafter to revise and update the Cumulative Edition on a full-time basis. This is necessary since consolidation as well as the revision of the Laws is conducted on a continuous basis rather than a periodic basis. The Act therefore removes the conflict and resulting procedural irregularities which arose from appointing the full-time Law Revision Commissioner on a periodic basis. These provisions will also ensure that there is continuity and retention of the institutional knowledge and expertise in this specialized field.

- Clause 4: This clause details the duties and responsibilities of the Law Revision Commissioner. In particular, paragraph (b) continues to provide for the conduct of Barbados' highly acclaimed continuous system of law revision as distinct from a periodic system of law revision. It requires a full-time Law Revision Commissioner to revise and consolidate the Laws by the use of modern methodologies. These provisions will facilitate the replacement of the slow manual methods by new and efficient technological methods which will allow for the updating of the laws soon after enactment.
- Clause 5: This clause makes provision for the Laws to be in electronic format for the purposes of publication to the Internet or the production of a CD. This will enable the Laws to be more widely accessed by attorneys-at-law, the judiciary and the public, thereby strengthening the rule of law.
- Clause 6: This clause specifies the powers which are exercisable by the LRC for the purposes of maintaining the Cumulative Edition.
- Clause 7: This clause gives the Law Revision Commissioner wide powers to edit and revise the Laws and also to correct mistakes and to clarify the Laws where necessary.

- Clause 8: This clause inter alia makes provision for errors in the Cumulative Edition to be rectified. Where errors of significance are to be corrected, the correction must now be made by order for the purposes of record and transparency.
- Clause 9: This clause provides a formal procedure for the correction of errors in new laws, similar to the correction of errors in the Cumulative Edition. Where errors of significance are to be corrected, the correction must be done by way of notice for the purposes of record and transparency.
- Clause 10: This clause retains the rule that in revising the law, the Law Revision Commissioner must not change the substance of the law.
- Clause 11: This clause corrects a deficiency in the existing law by permitting a Bill to be drafted by the Law Revision Commissioner where substantive changes are required to the law. Under the existing law, such errors in the law generally go unaddressed.
- Clause 12: This clause requires the Law Revision Commissioner to notify the relevant ministry where any fees or fines require updating due to the passage of time.
- Clause 13: This clause retains the power of the Law Revision Commissioner to omit any law or provisions of any law from the revised edition or the Cumulative Edition where they consider it appropriate. However, the exercise of this power would be less necessary in the new electronic environment.
- Clause 14: This clause makes it clear that the laws omitted from the revised edition or Cumulative Edition still remain in force and are binding.

- Clause 15: This clause inter alia makes provision for the revised edition to be brought into force by Proclamation.
- Clause 16: This clause provides for the publication and printing of the Laws, including a new revised edition of the Laws.
