PART III
LOANS TO DIRECTORS, COMMITTEE
MEMBERS, OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

5. A co-operative credit union may grant a single loan or aggregate loans to its directors, committee members, officers or employees and their associates subject to the following requirements — Criteria for granting loans.

- (a) the terms upon which a loan is granted are in accordance with sections 66 and 68 of the Act, these Regulations and the bye-laws;
- (b) no loan shall be granted on terms more favourable than those extended to other members of the co-operative credit union, except loans granted as a benefit to the employees of the co-operative credit union;
- (c) a director, committee member, officer or employee of the co-operative credit union who makes application for a personal loan or who has a conflict of interest with a borrower shall —
 - (i) disclose to the co-operative credit union the existence and nature of the conflict; and
 - (ii) not participate in any deliberation or decision of the co-operative credit union with respect to his application or the application of the borrower;
- (d) the co-operative credit union shall not permit its directors, committee members, officers, employees or their associates to act as co-makers, guarantors or endorsers of loans to other directors, committee members, officers, employees or their associates, except where a loan is granted to the spouse of the director, committee member, officer or employee;

- (e) a report on loans approved and refused to directors, committee members, officers or employees of the co-operative credit union and their associates, and the minutes of the meeting where the loans were presented and approved or refused by the credit committee shall be submitted to the supervisory committee and the full Board;
- (f) a loan shall not be made by the co-operative credit union to a body corporate if a majority of the shares of the body corporate are held by a director or officer of the co-operative credit union, unless the application for the loan has been approved by the credit committee and the supervisory committee without the participation of the director or officer in the deliberations or decision of the application.

Loans to directors, committee members, officers and employees, etc.

6. A co-operative credit union shall develop, and the Board shall adopt a policy on loans to directors, committee members, officers, employees and their associates and such policy shall be in accordance with the Act.

PART IV

ALLOWANCE FOR DOUBTFUL LOANS

Establishing and determining the monthly provision for doubtful loans.

7. (1) The Board and management of a co-operative credit union shall assess, at the end of each month, whether a loan or group of loans is impaired.

(2) Where there is evidence that a loan or group of loans is impaired, then the carrying amount of a loan shall be reduced either directly as an expense or through the use of a reserve by establishing an allowance for doubtful loans.

(3) The amount of the allowance shall be recognized in the calculation of the co-operative credit union's profit or loss for the month in which the assessment referred to under paragraph (1) is carried out, as a monthly provision for doubtful loans.

(4) A co-operative credit union shall establish the following allowances for doubtful loans —

- (a) where the arrears of payment with respect to the contractual terms of a loan —

- (i) do not exceed thirty days in arrears, an allowance of zero per cent;
- (ii) exceed thirty days but do not exceed three hundred and sixty-five days in arrears, except where the loan is fully secured, an allowance of thirty-five per cent;
- (iii) exceed three hundred and sixty-five days in arrears, except in the case of a fully secured loan, an allowance of one hundred per cent;
- (b) where —
- (i) a loan amount exceeds approved limits;
- (ii) a debt is assigned to a collection agency;
- (iii) a member has absconded, become a bankrupt or entered into an arrangement or composition with, or for the benefit of, his creditors;
- (iv) a loan has been postponed and the recovery of principal and interest is deferred by more than six months beyond the loan's original term;
- (v) a credit card payment is one hundred and eighty days in arrears,
- an allowance of one hundred per cent.
- (5) The annual audited financial statements of a co-operative credit union shall —
- (a) indicate the amount of outstanding loans to members, net of the allowance for doubtful loans;
- (b) include a note which provides information on the progression of the allowance for doubtful loans in the manner set out in Form 2 in the First Schedule; and Form 2.
First Schedule.
- (c) include a note that relates to the movement —
- (i) on the specific provision for doubtful loans during the year in the manner set out in Form 3 in the First Schedule; and Form 3.
First Schedule.
- (ii) in loans receivable during the year, excluding refinance amounts and loans that are rolled over, in the manner set out in Form 4 in the First Schedule. Form 4.
First Schedule.

(6) For the purpose of this regulation —

“carrying amount of a loan” means the outstanding balance of a loan, inclusive of interest due and payable on the loan, on the books of a co-operative credit union;

“fully secured loan” is a loan which is fully secured by cash, charges on real property such as land and buildings, or security interest in personal property such as an automobile or securities where the fair value of the security or estimated net realizable amount is sufficient to discharge the outstanding principal and interest in full.

Measuring loan impairment.

8. (1) No co-operative credit union shall assign a value to a security interest in a tangible property unless the co-operative credit union possesses a duly registered chattel mortgage.

(2) No value may be given to security interests in intangibles such as goodwill, quotas, wage assignments, personal or third-party guarantees excluding government guarantees, or lodgement of title.

(3) Each outstanding loan shall be assessed against the tangible realizable security, cash deposit or assigned co-operative credit union shares held and the net amount shall be deemed to be the impaired loan amount against which the co-operative credit union shall establish an allowance for doubtful loans.

(4) The calculation relating to the impairment of a loan shall not be based on consequential payments but on contractual missed payments.

(5) A co-operative credit union shall assess whether or not a loan is current in the manner set out in Form 1 in the First Schedule.

Form 1.
First Schedule.

Accrued interest.

9. (1) An interest income on impaired loans which are past due for more than ninety days shall not be reflected in the co-operative credit union's allowance for doubtful loans.

(2) A payment received from a member of a co-operative credit union on that member's impaired loan shall first be allocated against the accrued interest on the loan, then against the principal until such time as the loan is made current.

10. A loan shall not be considered impaired if the borrower's financial circumstances change to the extent that future repayment is not in doubt and the loan does not satisfy any of the conditions of impairment referred to under regulation 7(4). Loan loss allowance reversal.

11. (1) Write-offs and recoveries related to impaired loans shall be recorded in the loan allowance account rather than in the income statement, as a charge or credit against loan impairment. Income recognition.

(2) Each subsequent payment, whether designated as interest or principal, on an impaired loan shall be recorded as the reduction of the recorded investment in a loan.

(3) Where the recorded investment in a loan is completely written off, subsequent payments shall be credited to the allowance for doubtful loans.

12. (1) Where a co-operative credit union seeks to establish the value of property held as security for a mortgage, the co-operative credit union shall use the valuation form set out in the Second Schedule. Valuation of mortgage security.
Second Schedule.

(2) Where the total value of encumbrances on mortgaged property exceed seventy-five percent of the value of the property, the difference, in excess of the seventy-five percent value, shall be included in the calculation of the allowance for doubtful loans.

PART V APEX BODY AND STATEMENT OF MEMBERS' EQUITY

13. (1) The Apex Body shall maintain the money it receives from its members in segregated pools of funds. Apex Body.

- (2) The funds referred to under paragraph (1), are —
- (a) the co-operative credit unions' reserve fund;
 - (b) the co-operative credit unions' liquidity deposit fund; and
 - (c) the co-operative credit unions' stabilization fund.

(3) The Apex Body shall assess such fee against each fund as its board may approve, to cover its administrative costs.

(4) The return on investment in the funds shall be disbursed on a quarterly basis, pro rata to each co-operative credit union, based on their respective contributions to the funds.

(5) A co-operative credit union's annual regulatory adjustments to a fund shall be completed within ninety days of its year end, and the adjustments shall be based on year end results.

Statutory reserve.

14. (1) Where a co-operative credit union is unable to meet its statutory reserve allocation requirements under section 65 of the Act, the co-operative credit union shall, immediately, notify the Central Bank, and the Central Bank shall, by notice in writing, specify a time period for the co-operative credit union to meet its statutory reserve allocation requirement.

(2) The statutory reserve shall be a part of the co-operative credit union's members' equity.

(3) The statutory reserve shall be deposited with, and administered by the Apex Body.

(4) Subject to the approval of the Central Bank, a co-operative credit union may apply funds from the statutory reserve —

- (a) to meet occasional deficiencies incurred by the co-operative credit union;
- (b) to recoup losses on the co-operative credit union's operations, loans or investments; and
- (c) for the improvement of the co-operative credit union's products, services, technology and human resources.

(5) The Central Bank may, in approving the utilisation or application of the statutory reserve of a co-operative credit union, impose such exemption, restrictions, terms and conditions as it considers necessary to ensure the co-operative credit union meets the minimum capital requirement.

(6) The statutory reserve of a co-operative credit union shall not constitute any part of the liquidity deposit of the co-operative credit union.

(7) The statutory reserve shall not be applied for distribution to members by way of dividends, patronage rebate, bonus or any variation thereof.

15. (1) A co-operative credit union shall maintain funds of no less than ten percent of its members' deposits in a liquidity deposit fund administered by the Apex Body. Liquidity fund.

(2) The liquidity deposit fund shall be a part of the co-operative credit union's assets.

(3) A co-operative credit union shall maintain operational liquidity in compliance with the requirements under PEARLS.

(4) A co-operative credit union shall maintain a line of credit, in an amount sufficient to enable it to meet its normal cash flow requirements, including withdrawals and disbursements, as estimated by the co-operative credit union.

16. (1) A co-operative credit union registered under the Act, shall contribute to the stabilization fund such amounts, and at such intervals, as the Apex Body may determine. Stabilization fund.

(2) A co-operative credit union's annual contribution to the stabilization fund shall be treated as an operational expense.

17. A statement of the financial position of a co-operative credit union shall present the co-operative credit union's members' equity in the manner set out in the Third Schedule. Statement of members' equity.
Third Schedule.

PART VI MISCELLANEOUS

18. The fees payable to the Central Bank by a co-operative credit union are set out in the Fourth Schedule. Fees.
Fourth Schedule.

19. Pursuant to the Act, the Central Bank shall, in determining whether a person is or remains a fit and proper person, have regard to all the circumstances, including — Fit and proper criteria.

- (a) that person's integrity, probity; competence and soundness of judgment for fulfilling the responsibilities of that position;
- (b) the diligence with which that person is fulfilling or is likely to fulfil the responsibilities of that position;
- (c) whether the interests of the co-operative credit union are likely to be threatened by that person holding that position;

- (d) whether that person has engaged in any activity or business practices which would discredit that person's method of conducting business; and
- (e) whether there has been impropriety in handling an employers' business.
