Ghana National Research Fund Bill, 2019

MEMORANDUM

The purpose of the Bill is to establish a Ghana National Research Fund to provide for funds to support national research in tertiary and research institutions, to provide for the management of the Fund and for related matters.

Successive Governments have provided book and research allowances to the academic staff of the universities, polytechnics and research institutions to enable them procure books and research materials and essentially to carry out research. The critical requirement for progression in the universities, technical universities or polytechnics and research institutions is the evidence of research and publication. Thus, the academic staff have always endeavoured to have the present mode of meeting their research needs maintained.

Attempts have been made to restructure the research and book allowances into a Research Fund from which all persons and institutions can apply for funding after approval of a submitted proposal but this has not been achievable.

Efforts have been made to restructure the research and book allowance into a Research Fund which includes engaging the public universities and members of the academic communities in those public universities and polytechnics. However, the efforts only culminated in a Memorandum of Understanding.

Taking cognisance of acceptable practices in academia and universally accepted principles in relation to research funding, it became evidently clear that there was the utmost need to have a Fund dedicated solely to the funding of research, technology generation and innovation in the country.

Clauses 1 to 4 provide for the establishment of the Ghana National Research Fund. Clause 1 establishes the Ghana National Research Fund as a body corporate with all the incidents of incorporation.

Clause 2 deals with the objects of the Fund. The object of the Fund is to provide financial resources to support, promote and publicise research, technology generation and innovation in the tertiary and research institutions specified in the First Schedule. Other objects include evaluation of the status and needs of research development to align with national and international aspirations, promotion of the transfer of technology and knowledge and the implementation of research results and findings among others. The clause further provides for the application of moneys of the Fund for purposes of the object. These include the promotion and support of research in the area of science, technology, engineering, mathematics, information and communication technology and promotion and support for technology transfer and innovation, economics and social science research, research in creative arts, research into language and literature policy.

The sources of money for the Fund as provided in clause 3 include seed money from the Government, moneys derived from investments made by the Fund, one per cent of the Gross Domestic Product approved by Parliament, donations, grants, gifts and other voluntary contributions to the Fund and moneys that accrue from the Endowment Fund created by the Fund.

Clause 4 requires the Board to open a bank account into which moneys for the Fund are to be paid. The bank account is to be opened with the approval of the Controller and Accountant-General.

Clauses 5 to 13 provide for the governance of the Fund. The governing body of the Fund is an eleven member Board comprising the chairperson, the Administrator of the Fund, seven persons with relevant expertise in the fields of science, technology and engineering mathematics, information, communication technology, economics and social science, human genome science, creative arts research, language and literature policies and fund management. Other members are two other persons nominated by the President, at least one of whom is a woman.

Clause 6 provides for the functions of the Board. The functions of the Board include pursuing policies to achieve the object of the Fund, monitoring and evaluation of the operations and performance of the Fund and ensuring accountability of the Fund by defining appropriate procedures for the management of the Fund. Other functions include ensuring good management of the Fund by investing the moneys of the Fund that are not required for immediate use in safe securities that are financially beneficial to the Fund and organising fundraising activities to raise moneys for the Fund, among others.

Ghana National Research Fund Bill, 2019

Clauses 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 deal with the standard provisions on the tenure of office of members of the Board, duties and liabilities of a member of the Board, meetings of members of the Board, disclosure of interest, establishment of committees, allowances and ministerial directives.

Under clause 7, a member of the Board other than the Administrator of the Fund or a person who is a member of the Board by reason of the office of that person, is to hold office for a period of three years, renewable for another term only.

Clause 8 spells out the duties and liabilities of a member of the Board. A member of the Board is to act with loyalty and good faith as a director of a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1963 (Act 179).

Clause 9 makes provision for members of the Board to meet at least once every three months and sets the quorum for a meeting at eight members. Matters before the Board are to be decided by a majority of the members present and voting and in the event of an equality of votes, the person presiding is to have a casting vote.

Clause 10 makes provision for a member of the Board to disclose in writing the interest of that member in a matter for consideration by the Board. The clause further provides that the disclosure is to form part of the record of the consideration of the matter and that member is not to participate in the deliberations of the Board in respect of that matter. Clause 11 deals with establishment of committees consisting of members and non-members of the Board to perform a function of the Board. The members of the Board and members of a committee of the Board are to be paid allowances as approved by the Minister in consultation with the Minister responsible for Finance, clause 12. By virtue of clause 13, the Minister may give directives to the Board on matters of policy.

Clauses 14 and 15 provide for Review Committees. Clause 14 establishes a Medical, Biological and Human Genome Review Committee, an Engineering, Information and Communication Technology, Mathematics and Physical Sciences Review Committee, an Agriculture, Environment and Natural Resources Review Committee and a Humanities and Social Sciences Review Committee.
